Dantzicke, May 20.

OUR last Letters from Cracow gave us an account, that the 6. Instant Count Charles of Wallestein, Ambassador Extraordinary from the Emperor, arrived at Jawarow, and that on the 8th he had his first Audience of the King of Poland, of whom it's said he desired in the name of the Emperor, that the Troops of Lithuania might be sent back to Hungary to joyn the Imperial Army. That the king of Poland intended to part from Jawarow the 17th or 18th of this Month, to put himself at the Head of his Army, which is appointed to Rendezvous near the River Tyras, within two Leagues of Caminiec. That the Cossacks were preparing to make a great Incursion into the Country of the Tartars so soon as the Grass is grown high enough to afford Forage for their Horses; and that a Party of them had intercepted the Presents which the Czars of Moscovy were sending to the Cham of Tartary.

Vienna, May 25. The 23. Instant the Duke of Lorrain went to view the Fortifications of this City; and the Gallies and Galliots that are fitting out here, which are to be employed on the Danube under the command of the Count de Vecchi. And yesterday his Highness parted from hence for Hungary, whither our Governor the Count de Staremberg will follow in few days. The Imperial Troops are in the mean time drawing together, their Rendezvous being appointed on the River Waag. The Palatine of Hungary is gone to assemble the Troops of that Kingdom; And General Leslie is at the same time forming a Body of an Army on the side of Croatia. They write from Hungary that the Turks had again attempted to relieve Newheusel, but were defeated, and several of them killed and taken prisoners. And from Poland we have advice that the Turks and Tartars, having endeavoured to put a great Convoy of Ammunition and Provisions into Caminiec, had been defeated by the Poles and the Cossacks.

Lintz, May 27. The Adjutant Hofman, who was lately sent by the Emperor to Count Teckeley, is come back; we know not the answer he brings upon what he had orders to propose to him; but in general it is said that that Count has abated very much of the Pretentions he heretofore insisted upon, and that he is in a disposition that gives great hopes things will be accommodated with him: We are told that the Grand Signior has sent him an order to joyn his Army with 10000 men: And that the Princes of Transilvania, Moldavia and Valachia, have received a like command; but that they have answered, that they dare not draw their Troops out of those Countries for fear of the Poles.

Ratisbonne, May 29. The Troops of Bavaria do assemble on the River Lech near Ausbourg, whither that Elector is gone from Municke: And Prince Waldecke does at the same time draw together the Troops of Franconia, Hesse Cassel, &c. which he is to command.

Hamburg, June 2. The King of Denmarke arrived yesterday in the afternoon at Gluckstadt. From Berlin they write, that the Elector of Brandenburg had sent orders to his Troops to be in a readiness to march.

Hague, June 6. Yesterday morning early the Prince of Orange parted from hence for Brabant, being accompanied with the Count de Solms, the Count de Horne, the Heer Van Ouwerkercke, and several other Persons of Quality. The same day the Count d'Avaux, Ambassador Extraordinary from France, gave in a Memorial to the States General; wherein he represents to them, That having understood by an Express that the City of Luxemburg was on the first of this Month reduced under the Obedience of the King his Master, he would not defer putting in execution the Orders he had received from his Majesty, to let them know; That his Majesty had had reason to promise himself, after all the Expedients which he had caused to be proposed to them since the 19th of April last, in order to re-establish a speedy Peace with the Crown of Spain, or at least to preserve the Barrier of the Low Countries, and to maintain a good Correspondence between his Majesty and this State, that they would have returned an Answer that might have left his Majesty no room to doubt of their good Intentions, But that having let this last Term, as well as the former, expire fruitlesly, and his Majesty having been obliged to make use of his Arms to put himself in possession of Luxemburg, He is in a condition to make new and more considerable Conquests, and to enlarge his Pretentions upon the Spaniards, not being any longer engaged by the Offers he made on the 29th of April; However his Majesty, to let them see that he continues in his sincere intention to procure the Peace of Christendom, will yet abide, for the space of 12 days reckoning from the taking of Luxemburg, by the Offers he caused to be made to them on the 29th of April and the 9th of May last, and by all the Expedients proposed, in the Conferences that were held on the Subject of the Memorials then presented to them, for the preserving the Barrier, and for the re-establishing the Peace of the Low Countries: And that his Majesty hopes they will make use of this new delay of 12 days to conclude and Sign joyntly with the Spanish Ministers the Treaty proposed by his Majesty, or to conclude and Sign it themselves alone upon the Conditions offered them by his Majesty; Assuring them that if they suffer the said time to expire without a positive answer, his Majesty will hereafter regulate his Demands and Pretentions according to the Success it shall please God to give to the
